

Learning Support

For teaching assistants in primary schools

MEDIA INFORMATION

Learning Support is the only professional magazine for primary school teaching assistants, a rapidly growing group of education professionals with an increasingly responsible role. Published in full colour twice a term, it provides top quality information to support them in all their vital work with primary school children.

With a print run of over 5000, every copy is paid for on subscription, and nine out of ten go straight into primary schools where they are circulated among teaching assistants and other staff.
